1000 KILLED IN REVOLT IN INDIA

Indians Control Large Areas of Malabar District and Border Stations Are Sacked and Burned by Mohammedan Fanatics—Severe Fighting With British

LONDON, Aug. 25.—More than 1,000 persons have been killed in rioting and fighting between rebellious Indian natives and British troops in the Malabar district, said a News Agency dispatch from Bombay today.

It is reported that many white women and children have been killed.

The Indians are still in control of large areas of the Malabar district

PASTOR TAKEN EAST CHARGED WITH WIFE MURDER

SANTA ROSA, Calif., Aug. 25.—Rev. J. A. Spencer, charged with the murder of his wife, was brought here last night from San Jose, where he was arrested, and was taken to Lakeport, where he will be held pending trial. Upon his arrival at Lakeport, Rev. Spencer will be the first prisoner placed in the Lake county jail since last March.

District Attorney H. G. Churchill announced today before departing for Lakeport that he will lay Spencer's case before the grand jury meeting August 31, and expects an indictment to be speedily returned.

The district attorney also announced that whatever the result of the autopsy performed on the body of Mrs. Spencer, he will proceed with the case. He took occasion to deny published reports that the autopsy showed that the woman's death was the result of heart disease, but refused to indicate what the autopsy had revealed.

"We have sufficient evidence, aside from the autopsy showing, on which to seek the conviction of the defendant and to ask full penalty of the law," Churchill declared here today.

S. O. S. IS RECEIVED FROM CREW OF SINKING SHIP

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—The chamber of commerce marine department today received a radio report relayed by the steamer Cordova from the freighter Canadian Importer, bound from Vancouver to Auckland, saying that the crew had left the ship in lifeboats and that she was in a sinking condition.

The radio gave the position of the Canadian Importer as 623 miles southwest of the Columbia river.

The ship is thought here to have carried a cargo of lumber and probably had a crew of about 40 men abroad.

WOMAN THROWS ACID
DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 25.—Entering the Marine Field Club house early this morning, Mrs. Irma Hassell, wife of Jess Hassell, president of the Dallas baseball club, is alleged to have emptied the contents of a bottle of acid upon Miss Grace Crane of this city, and Mr. Hassell, whom she found together in the clubhouse. Miss Crane was treated for severe acid burns, but Mr. Hassell's injuries were not serious. Mrs. Hassell was charged with maiming and carrying a deadly weapon.

SINN FEIN REPLY DUE FOR DELIVERY ON FRIDAY MORNING

Reaches London and Reported to Sustain Attitude of Irish Parliament

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

DUBLIN, Aug. 25.—The Sinn Fein formal reply to the English peace offer, which is understood to be a rejection of Premier Lord George's proposals, was taken to London today. It will be delivered by the Sinn Fein envoys at 10 Downing street, Friday morning.

It is understood that the answer states that Dail Eireann gave full endorsement to the decision of the Irish republican cabinet to refuse the English terms. The document was said to interrogate Premier Lloyd George whether he is prepared to negotiate further with Ireland on the basis of the latter country being self-governing through the consent of the governed.

Irish Troops Mustered
A general order calling upon all Sinn Fein soldiers to hold themselves in readiness for active service in the field at any moment was read to all ranks and units of the Irish Republican army today.

"No such necessity may arise," said the general order, "but it is the duty of the defenders of the Irish republic not to relax their vigilance and to leave nothing to chance. This situation is thoroughly appreciated by the fighting men of Ireland. Whatever contingency arises they will act in a manner worthy of the glorious traditions of the Republican army. The morale of the Sinn Fein volunteers was never higher than it is today."

Dail Eireann (Sinn Fein parliament), was scheduled to resume its secret executive sessions today for consideration of Eamonn de Valera's reply to the English peace proposals.

DRY VICTORY ENDS BEER SUPPLY BY PHYSICIANS

No Regulation to Permit Sale of Beverage as Medicine To Be Issued

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Failure of Congress to agree on the anti-beer bill will not mean the issuance of regulations for the sale of beer as medicine, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon announced today. The secretary said that despite former statements that he would issue beer regulations if Congress failed to pass the beer bill before taking a recess, he has decided to withhold the regulations until after Congress reconvenes.

In the face of numerous apparently authentic reports reaching here from various sections that a force of from 4000 to 6000 armed miners had begun their long predicted march and had actually reached Racine, Boone county, Sheriff Don Chaffin has mobilized a large army of citizens with machine guns and two airplanes to oppose the proposed march through that county, a non-union stronghold.

The same report said an army of 4000 armed miners had reached Racine, Boone County, which is about ten miles from Marmet. A miner was reported killed last night at East Bank, but details are lacking.

GOVERNMENT MAY ORDER OUT TROOPS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—United States troops may be sent to West Virginia, it is officially announced today.

The President today conferred on the situation with Acting Secretary of War Wainwright and Major General Harbord, chief of staff.

GERMANS SIGN PEACE PACT TODAY

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—The state of war between the United States and Germany, which had been in effect since April 16, 1917, was formally terminated late today. The separate treaty of peace between the United States and Germany was signed at the foreign office, re-establishing peace. Ellis Loring Dressel, the American commissioner, signed for the United States and Dr. von Rosen, the German foreign secretary, for Germany.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 25.—The sheriff's office at Logan, W. Va., at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon, informed the International News Service that the miners' army moving from Marmet to Mingo County had not entered Logan City and that last reports were to the effect that the marchers were in Boone County.

This city was an armed camp today. Great excitement prevails here as the caravan of armed miners is expected to appear soon. Five hundred men have responded to the appeal of Sheriff Don Chaffin to help him repel the invasion of Logan County.

HULL, England, Aug. 25.—Divers who inspected the submerged wreckage of the dirigible ZR-2 during the morning reported that the tide was so strong and the sands were shifting so rapidly over the body of the lost airship that it was unlikely that any more bodies would ever be recovered. Thirty-eight bodies were still missing.

An official inquiry is under way. The death list is officially placed at 43. Sixteen of the 17 Americans on board perished.

The city of Hull is in deep mourning. All flags are at half-mast.

It is likely that a public funeral will be held in London for the lost British and American air sailors.

Norman O. Walker Only U. S. Sailor To Escape—Official Inquiry Begins at Washington and in England—Stories of Defective Parts of Huge Airship Are Denied—Story of the Last Hours of the Flight, as Told by Survivors—Search for Missing Bodies.

By EARL C. REEVES
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

HULL, England, Aug. 25.—Official inquiry was begun here today to fix the responsibility for the loss of the world's greatest dirigible, the ZR-2, which lies a mass of charred and tangled wreckage in the Humber River.

The disaster—the most appalling in the history of peace time aeronautics was almost instantaneous. The breaking of the girders and the two explosions which broke the back of the giant craft, sending her crashing with the loss of 43 lives, all occurred within five seconds.

Out of the 49 men aboard the giantess of the skies, only six escaped, one of them an American—Norman O. Walker, a rigger, of Commerce, Tex.

Walker Slightly Burned

Walker was not badly hurt. He got a severe shaking up and was slightly burned.

Corporal W. P. Potter, a member of the British crew, was another who escaped nearly uninjured. The worst he got was a bad ducking in the river.

From stories told by survivors and the observations of experts, the ZR-2 was carrying too much weight for her framework. Several girders are believed to have broken under the strain, penetrating the fuel tanks.

Petrol Caused Tragedy

The petrol flowed out and was ignited by the motor exhausts, causing the violent explosions.

Search of the Humber River and the wreckage is under way for the bodies of the victims. An inquest over the dead will be held later.

The British air ministry was in sole charge of the craft when she was wrecked. She had not yet been turned over to the United States navy department. Her final and fatal trial flight was being made under the direction of British Air Marshal E. M. Maitland and Lieutenant E. H. Wann of the British air service. Commander L. H. Maxfield, U. S. N., who was to have been in charge of the dirigible on her voyage across the Atlantic, was on board as an official observer and "learner." The presence of mind of Lieutenant Wann averted what would have been an even greater disaster. The ship began to buckle and "hump" while she was over this city.

Instantly the commander turned her towards the Humber, knowing that if the blazing craft fell upon Hull it would be a calamity for the city.

Horror Over Tragedy

The horror of the disaster cast a pall of sorrow over England.

"The accident happened with terrible suddenness," said Lieutenant Wann, one of the survivors, as he lay in the hospital today. "The ship was going beautifully. We had been up since 7:10 o'clock Tuesday morning and were delighted with the smoothness of the working parts. We had been going at 60 knots an hour late Wednesday afternoon, and just before the mishap, had cut down speed to 50 knots. Suddenly there was a violent crack and I think several of the girders must have broken. Then came the explosions.

"The whole thing happened in five seconds. There was no sign of anything wrong as we started to pass over Hull. I was in sole control of the ship.

"It all happened very quickly, but from what I saw and heard, I think one of the girders in the forepart of the framework must have gone first. The petrol tank was evidently penetrated by the wrecked girders and exploded. Fire broke out at once, enveloping the gas bag and sending up much smoke."

Bateman's Story

Harry Bateman, formerly of Halifax, a member of the British crew which was running the ZR-2, had a slightly different version. Bateman saved his life by leaping overboard with a parachute. He told the following story:

"The ship had passed in over the coast from the North sea and was going at a high rate of speed. I was in the after part of the craft near the rudder. As we passed over Hull the controls were being tested and apparently everything was safe and sound. Then came the disaster and it came with awful suddenness. I think one or more girders amidships must have broken or buckled. There was a series of sharp shocks and the craft began to fall swiftly, nose first. As she started down the petrol tank exploded with a loud roar and a burst of fire. I was thrown down by the shock and instantly realized that the ZR-2 was doomed. There was a parachute nearby and I had sufficient presence of mind to seize the ropes and go overboard."

All the stories agreed that the ZR-2 first buckled and then blew up.

There was no sign of smoke, fire or explosion until after the craft's back broke and she began to sag downwards.

Charles Harrison Brown of the United States air force, who was an eye witness of the disaster, was one of the first to reach the wreckage in the river.

First to Wreck

"The first intimation that I had that something was wrong was the peculiar movements of the ship," said Brown. "I saw her nose go down and I knew that something had happened for the craft would not attempt a landing over a city. I kept staring at the dirigible and it must have been less than two minutes afterwards that I saw her break clean in two. The parts shot downwards into the Humber. As quickly as I could I procured a tugboat and made for the wreckage which was still smoking and steaming in the water."

Saving Survivors

"We put off a small boat and rowed to the after cockpit, which was partly on the surface of the river and partly submerged. I went overboard and swam up to the wreckage, thinking there might be helpless wounded men whose lives I could save. I found one body and swam back to the boat with it. I went back a second time but could not find any more bodies. I think that a number of the victims were pinned under the water. They never had a fighting chance for their lives."

All the survivors emphasized the suddenness with which the calamity occurred. This accounted for the heavy loss of life. Elaborate precautions had been taken to provide safeguards for the men on board and there was an individual parachute for each. But so quickly did the girders break and the ship explode that the men were caught unaware and only a very few were able to take advantage of the parachutes.

Sergeant Bushby

Sergeant Bushby, of the American air force, was another eyewitness to the aerial tragedy. He was watching the flight, he said, when he suddenly noticed fire amidships. He had not noticed the sagging of the ship, because of his position. Immediately after flames appeared there came the roar of two almost instantaneous explosions. The ship collapsed in the center and the wreckage began falling with the gondolas spinning around like tops and a long comet-like trail of smoke and fire ranging out behind.

One Thousand Feet Up

According to the British district naval intelligence officer at this port the ZR-2 was one thousand feet in the air when she buckled, caught fire and blew up. Despite her great height it took the blazing wreckage less than two minutes to reach the surface of the river. There was a tremendous splash, a spurt of smoke and steam and then the spectators on the shore who had been held spellbound by the tragic and spectacular sight, gave a cry of horror.

Board of Inquiry

General Brook Popham, director of staff of the British air ministry, and G. Cockburn, chief of the accidents department of the air ministry, accompanied by their staffs have arrived here to institute a board of inquiry. They began their official in-

MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF BANKER WILL BE PROBED

DANVILLE, Ill., Aug. 25.—An investigation by the state attorney's office was launched today into the death of Josiah Rusk, retired capitalist, at San Fernando, Calif. The probe was requested by his son, John Rusk of Des Moines, Ia. The son declared his father, although 83 years of age, died suddenly under mysterious circumstances. The elder Rusk, it was stated, withdrew all his money from two Illinois banks before leaving for California to join his wife, from whom he had been separated for a long time. Rusk was formerly a manufacturer in St. Louis.

Appointed to the Naval Academy from Minnesota in 1903, he graduated in 1907. He was one of the pioneers in U. S. naval aviation in the pre-war period.

In 1917, Commander Maxfield went to Akron, O., where he was a student in lighter-than-air aeronautics, and qualified as a pilot. For several months during the spring and summer of 1917 he was in command at Akron.

NEW GAS LINES ON SOUTH BRAND FOR SMITH BUILDING

The tearing up of the pavement at the corner of Colorado and Brand, where, for the past two days an army of stalwart workmen have been hard at work with sharp, heavy picks breaking through heavy cement and macadam stratas, is for the purpose of laying gas pipes to serve the Chris Smith building just south of the offices of the Robinson Transfer. "We wished to make a change in conditions there," said W. R. Phelon, District Manager of the Southern California Gas Company.

City Repairs Street

When asked about the repair of the street, he said: "The City of Glendale does that. We pay the city an average of $300 a month for such repairs. It may cost us a little more money than if we did it ourselves, but having the city do it is more satisfactory. The city government has all the equipment for street building and experienced men to handle it. It is responsible to the people for the condition of the streets."

"Gas mains have been installed on practically all the streets of Glendale except the new ones that have just been opened up. Grand View has gas in most of its territory. As fast as the streets come we lay the pipes. Many tract owners lay them and then we take and reimburse the owners."

Gas From Midland Company

When asked about prospects for getting natural gas direct from the Midland Company whose mains traverse Glendale, Mr. Phelon said: "I know of no prospective change in conditions here. At the present time Glendale is being served with a mixed gas, part natural and part artificial. The product used here represents about 850 thermal heat units. The same amount of natural gas, which is hotter, would represent 1000 heat units. Our supply comes from Los Angeles after the Midland gas has been mixed with the artificial gas."

Santa Barbara and many of the valley towns are receiving straight natural gas, but that is a matter beyond the control of the Company. The distribution of gas is regulated by the State Railroad Commission, and the price is regulated by the rise and fall of crude petroleum. When the cost of oil increases the price of gas has to be advanced."

ODD FELLOWS' CAMPAIGN FOR NEW MEMBERS HERE

Hundreds of Young Men of Glendale Should Belong to Order, Says I. O. O. F. Officer—Advantages of Association With Those of High Ideals

A preliminary drive for new members is being launched by the members of the I. O. O. F. Lodge in Glendale. Activities along every line of the lodge's work have been coming along so well during the last few weeks that the members feel that now is the time to make a determined effort to enlarge the membership list of the lodge.

Provides Recreation for Young Men

"There are hundreds of young men in Glendale who should belong to our order," said Vice Grand Alfred Baines this morning. "Many of these young fellows are running wild, as it were. They have no place to spend their evenings, and many of them may be drifting away to places that are possibly of a questionable character. They have no place to spend their evenings where there is an atmosphere of refinement and where they will be improved in every way by spending a few hours. The I. O. O. F. Lodge of Glendale furnishes the young men of Glendale a place where they may gather to their mutual benefit; it furnishes something in which they may take an active interest and where their efforts will be appreciated."

At the present time the I. O. O. F. Lodge meets every Thursday evening at 111-A East Broadway. The lodge rooms are open every evening to the members of the order. The equipment of the lodge is of the finest. There is a large lodge room, or auditorium, 50 by 100 feet, and a pool room in which there are two excellent pool tables. There is also a large dining room with a well-equipped kitchen in connection, so that the serving of an elaborate luncheon is a very simple matter. Also there are two large ante-rooms for the reception of new members.

"5000 More Drive"

The drive that is now being started with the local Odd Fellows Lodge is the "Five Thousand More Drive," and while the membership may not reach this figure as the result of this drive, it is the aim of the lodge ultimately to be advanced."

Merchants' Exposition Tent Ready for Action

Big things actually started at the Merchants' Exposition this morning. For several days past there has been much activity on the athletic grounds of the high school, where the exposition is to be held, but when it comes to real action, this morning takes the blue ribbon. Dozens of those who have contracted for booths are on the ground and are starting in earnest, each with the intention of making his individual booth the best in the show. There is a general rattle of the hammer and a buzzing of the saw. Everybody was in the other fellow's way, which is equivalent to saying, in short, that those present are having the time of their young lives.

First On the Ground

The Neale & Gregg Hardware Company stole a march on the other merchants by being the first on the ground. The contracts signed by the various exhibitors called for work to be started on the different booths the first thing this morning. When the multitude of merchants arrived they found that the Brand boulevard merchants had put one over on them. Mr. Neale had the material for his firm's booth carried on the ground shortly after noon yesterday, and the remainder of the day was given over to laying the floor, building the other features connected with his firm's booth, which will be by far the largest in the show.

While they are individually plowing their own trades or professions they see that it is to the interest of all of them to boost the Chamber of Commerce which in turn, has for its object the boosting of all of its members and of all the residents of Glendale in general.

In his talk yesterday one of these new applicants, struck the proper chord. He said:

"I want to get on the inside because I believe it is the duty of every man in this city to assist in the work of upbuilding Glendale, and I know of no way that I can more effectively do this than by connecting myself with the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. I do not want to be a slacker. I always try to do my duty, and so long as I remain in Glendale, I believe I will feel it my duty to remain a member of the C. of C."

RIVERSIDE FAIR TO RIVAL VALLEY FAIR IS CLAIM MADE

Every individual taste and requirement will find something of especial interest and attraction at the Southern California Fair at Riverside, October 11 to 16. This fair has gained the reputation of being the great "Farmers' Fair" of the State and every department of a real old-fashioned fair, together with all modern developments will be shown.

The Races

The race track at Riverside is known as the fastest in the West and records of nation-wide importance have been made there. This year there will be five days of racing and some big purses are attracting the speediest horses on the Western circuit.

The livestock show, considering all departments, will rank with the State Fair. The greatest display of dairy stock in the State will be made at Riverside this Fall and the indications are that the swine show will exceed the one at Sacramento. The Poultry show, including a great barn and a great pigeon show will be the largest and most widely diversified in the south this year. The goat show will again be the largest ever assembled.

Truck and Tractors

Then there will be a wonderful showing of every important make of trucks and tractors that are shown on the coast. The Auto Show will be held in a larger tent and will be a classic display of the leading makes of automobiles.

The industrial show will be one of the most beautiful and attractive features of the Fair. The largest tent obtainable will be used and every phase of industrial and trade activity will be shown. The agricultural exposition will be a marvelous assemblage of the best agricultural and horticultural production of the entire southland.

Then there will be a dog show which will rank with the very best that has yet been assembled in the State. The Indian exhibit this year will be a unique show in itself. The largest and best Carnival that comes to the western coast this year will be at the Southern California Fair with twelve big clean and attractive shows and six fine riding devices.

ONE AMERICAN SURVIVES TRAGEDY

All officials and representatives of the air ministry said they would refuse to speculate on the immediate cause of the disaster pending the official report.

Commander Maxfield's body lies in the local infirmary. His wife and daughter have arrived from Pulham to take charge of it.

Escaped Disaster

It is expected that an American warship will be furnished to take Lieut. C. A. Tinker, U.S.N., and Major P. E. Van Nostrand of the United States air army force, who were on the ZR-2 as observers, have arrived in Hull. Both were in London at the time of the disaster.

Lieut. Tinker said that the American naval men who had inspected the ZR-2 had every confidence in the airworthiness of the craft and he spoke sharply of widespread reports in this country and the United States that the ship was defective when she began her flight at Howden.

The inquest will be opened by Coroner Adam Jackson on Friday.

AMERICAN BODIES MISSING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Searching parties are today seeking the bodies of Lieut. Marcus Esterly of Youngstown, Ohio, and Lieut. Charles G. Little, of Newburyport, Mass., the only two Americans on the ill-fated ZR-2 whose bodies have not been recovered, the Navy Department was advised today in a cable from London.

The cable stated that Norman O. Walker, A. R. first class, was the only

PIONEER AMERICAN BEE MAN JOINS PRESS STAFF

Edward Kretchmer, Early Importer of Italian Queens, Consents to Answer Questions Regarding Industry and Hive Construction—Is Inventor and Author

Glendale has the distinction of having within her borders the oldest authoritative bee-keeper living in the United States today. This distinguished gentleman is Edward Kretchmer, of 317 North Orange street, who has lived in Glendale for the past 15 months and in California for four years. Before moving to Glendale, he was for years a resident of Council Bluffs, Ia., where he was the proprietor of a large establishment which manufactured bee-keepers' supplies, a business which he conducted for over 53 years.

After moving to Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. Kretchmer lived at 526 North Central avenue. A short time ago they purchased a lot on North Orange street and have constructed a home that is a credit to Glendale.

Interested in Bee Hives When Young

Mr. Kretchmer became interested in bees when he was a lad of 14 years. At that time, his father gave him a colony of bees and from that moment, his interest in the little creatures has never waned. The first ray of prominence came to Mr. Kretchmer in 1864, at which time he attended the state fair in Iowa. At that fair there was a fellow who was selling "bee charm," claiming it was impossible to control bees except by the use of the product he was selling. Mr. Kretchmer says that, knowing this fellow to be a humbug, he denounced him in the presence of a number of bee men. This faker immediately challenged him to a contest in which the two methods of controlling bees were to be given a thorough test. Mr. Kretchmer immediately covered the other fellow's bet, and the big thing was on, as they say.

In order that the contest might be carried out, a colony of bees that was on exhibition at the fair was secured, and the time set for the competition. A committee of three was appointed, consisting of one man appointed by Mr. Kretchmer, one by the faker and the third chosen by the management of the fair. The contest consisted of opening and controlling a colony of bees and of the contestant throwing a handful of bees into his own face.

Mr. Kretchmer won the bet. He opened his hive of bees and threw a handful of bees in his own face without being stung, in four minutes and eleven seconds.

The faker took four minutes and twenty-one seconds to turn the trick, and in the bargain received a severe sting on the nose. The details of this contest are as clear in the mind of Mr. Kretchmer, he says, as they were on the day it actually happened.

From the time of this contest, inquiries as to Mr. Kretchmer's method of handling bees gradually forced him into the manufacture of bee-keepers' supplies.

Invents Bee Hive

Many popular appliances along this line were invented by Mr. Kretchmer. Among these are the Champion bee hive, the dove-tail hive, the Champion curved-nozzle smoker, a popular honey extractor, several honey knives and other appliances.

Opens Manufacturing Plant

Mr. Kretchmer opened a plant for the manufacture of bee-keepers supplies in Coburg, Montgomery county, Iowa. He furnished everything for the bee-keeper, including the bees themselves. For commercial purposes he kept on hand at all times from 40 to 200 hives. The demand for his system of handling bees became so great that he wrote three books explanatory of his system. These were, "The American Bee-Keepers' Guide," published in 1866, "The Bee-Keepers' Guide Book," published in 1868, and a publication in German called "Winken für Biene-Züchter, Etc."

Up until 1860, there were no Italian bees in the United States. At about this time the United States government employed a Mr. Parsons to go to Italy and bring over some Italian bees. Mr. Parsons also brought over

RAINMAKERS URGE CLAIMS IN KANSAS

(By International News Service)

EMPIRA, Kan., Aug. 25.—The "rainmaker" is on the job again. Or rather, he's after a job again. And if Kansas farmers will only say the word he will come to their broad acres and, with the proper "hocus pocus," bring down torrents of rain to succor the ripening crops.

The drought in this section of Kansas during the past month brought scores of applications from "rainmakers." Individuals, corporations and communities received them by the dozen. It appears, in fact, that there are enough "rainmakers" scattered around the country to bring about a second Deluge, if they all gathered in convention and started up their rainmaking machinery to lure the elusive raindrop out of a clear sky.

As a result of the rainmakers' offers to give Kansas a downright good soaking many inquiries have been received at the Kansas State Normal School here as to whether credence could be placed in such a proposition. Professors in the department of chemistry have replied that "rainmaking" is a scientific possibility.

Twenty-five years ago Professor T. H. Dinsmore, head of the department of chemistry at that time actually produced rain on the roof of the normal school.

Professor Dinsmore arranged a balloonlike affair, which he sent into the air from the roof of the building, said a faculty member who witnessed the experiment.

"To this was attached a little rubber tube leading to an ammonia gas generator on the building. The gas, escaping into the air, tended to condense the moisture in the clouds until they became heavy enough to precipitate in the form of rain. Some rain actually was produced. The experiment, of course, was on a small scale."

No rainmaker, however, has been engaged as yet to mix Jupiter Pluvius cocktails for thirsty Kansas crops.

BATH OF PRUNES IS INTERRUPTED

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Common household prunes were caught in a compromising position when detectives of Inspector Dominic Henry's staff paid a call at the home of Mrs. Anna Kiernan, in the Bronx.

Before leaving the house they seized a whole bathtubful of prunes, as well as a twenty-gallon still and a quantity of mash, and arrested Mrs. Kiernan on a charge of violation of the Prohibition law. Mrs. Kiernan was locked up, but later her husband, Patrick Kiernan, said to be a wealthy horseshoer, put up $500 cash bail for her and indignantly informed the police that he was in a position to put up $10,000 more if necessary.

One-third of Big Power Program Under Way

By MISS CLOTILDE GRUNSKY
(Member of American Institute of Electrical Engineers; Associate Editor Journal of Electricity, San Francisco.)

at the Caribou plant over double steel tower transmission lines 186 miles to the San Francisco Bay District distributing area.

Even this record is to be broken by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company in its Pitt River project, from which power is to be transmitted to San Francisco at 220,000 volts. This work is now under way, the great Pitt River No. 1 project of 92,000 horsepower being assured for completion in July, 1922. The Hat Creek plant No. 1 being completed and in operation, and Hat Creek No. 2 so near completion that it is counted that it will be in operation within 30 days. This adds 20,000 horsepower to the Pacific Gas & Electric system. In addition, the Oakland steam plant of the company has been enlarged by a 15,000 horsepower unit, the little 1200 horsepower Spalding plant has been put in operation and a 8300 horsepower plant is under construction at Spring Gap on the middle fork of the Stanislaus River.

Since that time, 300,000 horsepower has actually been added to the developed power of the state and plants with a capacity of 250,000 horsepower more are now under construction and scheduled to be completed within the next ten months. In other words, the program is being carried out on schedule time. The present year has seen considerably more than its quota of one-tenth of the outlined program actually constructed, with a quarter of a million additional horsepower available for the growing industries and home centers of the state.

Among the projects which have been completed within the past 12 months are the Kerckhoff plant, of the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation, which added 45,000 horsepower to the service of the San Joaquin farms, and also the natural gas burning plant of the same company, near McKittridge, with a capacity of 20,000 horsepower. An equivalent installation has been added to their Bakersfield plant, doubling its capacity.

In Southern California, the Southern California Edison Company has added three important new units, all of them completed during 1921. The first to come into service was the $10,000,000 plant on the Kern River, with its 40,000 horsepower installation, supplying energy over the Greenhorn Mountains to Vestal substation, where it connects with the Big Creek line. Soon after this, a third unit, with 22,000 horsepower capacity, was added to the Big Creek plant No. 2. Big Creek No. 8 has just been completed with an initial capacity of 30,000 horsepower.

The Great Western Power Company completed its Caribou plant early this year. This has increased the capacity of the company's system by 59,000 horsepower, and has added a world's record to western engineering achievements by transmitting power at the record breaking voltage of 165,000 volts. Work on this project was started in June, 1919, and operation began May 7, 1921. It is located ten miles below Lake Almanor on the north fork of the Feather River. The present installation comprises two 30,000 horsepower units, consisting of two overhanging impulse wheels, each with 21 buckets, operating under a head of 1008 feet, with a speed of 171.4 revolutions a minute. Each of the buckets on these wheels weighs 1000 pounds. The diameter of the jet which strikes them is 11 inches. These wheels and generator weigh 170 tons. Transmission is by means of aluminum cables, nearly one inch in diameter, which transmit the power generated.

GERMANS ARE RUN OUT

"Not only has private property belonging to Germans been expropriated, but many Germans who have spent from fifteen to twenty years in developing the copra industry are being cleared out. Despite the fact that the Expropriation Board employs a great crowd of officials, in only one or two cases have any of the expropriated Germans been able to secure a statement concerning their estates. Yet it is a fact that three Australians are employed for every German employed before the board took over the German properties.

Plantations Deteriorating

"The German plantations have been placed in temporary charge of returned soldiers, young men who have no knowledge of cocoanut growing and who have no experience whatever in handling natives. Is it any surprise to learn that these plantations, which everyone admits were models of efficiency and productivity under German control, are rapidly deteriorating?

"There is general agreement that there is going to be a debacle in German New Guinea within three years. Many say the crash will come sooner than that. It is becoming more and more clear that, in its desire to get the whole of the loot, the Australian Government has made a ghastly mistake."

CANADA BUILDING ROADS ON TRAILS

(By International News Service)
WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 25.—A nation is as strong as its roads," said a highway expert discussing Canada's comprehensive programme which is turning twisting buffalo trails into a network of white-ribbed roads.

New market channels for crops are being opened in Western Canada. Hundreds of light trucks loaded with produce now chug over the country side. New roads have saved the farmers millions of dollars by making short cuts to market.

In the last year municipalities of Manitoba, according to a recent survey, spent $2,452,694 on highways. The Hat Creek plant No. 1 being completed and in operation, and Hat Creek No. 2 so near completion that it is counted that it will be in operation within 30 days. This adds 20,000 horsepower to the Pacific Gas & Electric system. In addition, the Oakland steam plant of the company has been enlarged by a 15,000 horsepower unit, the little 1200 horsepower Spalding plant has been put in operation and a 8300 horsepower plant is under construction at Spring Gap on the middle fork of the Stanislaus River.

Among other power developments of the state, the Southern Sierras Power Company reports 28,750 horsepower now under way, with some of the work very near completion. In addition there should be noted the 3350 horsepower Scott Dam plant of the Snow Mountain Water and Power Company and the construction work which is being carried on by the cities of Los Angeles and San Francisco. The San Francisquito plant brought in 47,000 horsepower late in 1920, and an additional 83,000 horsepower are under way on the Owens River and at Hetchy Hetchy.

At the beginning of 1920, the total available horsepower in California power plants amounted to just about 1,000,000 horsepower. This capacity has now been increased by 25 percent and there is sufficient construction work actually under way by California power companies to bring this figure to 1,500,000 horsepower within another year. When it is realized that an abundance of electric power is one of the basic prerequisites for industrial and agricultural growth in this state, it becomes apparent what an opportunity has thus been opened for the future development of California.

EX-GERMAN COLONY ROBBED BY VICTORS

(By International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Australia, having received a League of Nations mandate for New Guinea, is now engaged in "looting" this former German territory, declares Henry Stead, an Australian writer and editor of Sead's Review. He makes wholesale charges of inefficiency in administration of the mandate and accuses the Australian Government of ghastly mistakes.

"When Rabaul was occupied by Australian troops in 1914 the German Governor did not surrender unconditionally," writes Stead. "General Holmes, the Australian commander, undertook to send him and his officials back to Germany and to respect the property of private persons. The peace treaty, it is true, gives Australia the right to confiscate German property, but by so doing she is breaking the definite agreement she made with the Germans at the time the place was captured.

Jap Radicals Declare U. S. Menaces Nippon

(By International News Service)
TOKIO, Aug. 25.—"The disarmament conference proposed by President Harding forms part of the plan of America to check the development of Japan by organizing the opinion of the world against her policy," declares Dr. Shinichiro Uesugi, a professor in the Imperial University, in a serial article contributed to the Nichi Nichi. "The destiny of Japan is completely bound up in the settlement of the situation arising from the move of President Harding. Has Japan confidence in her power to emerge from the trial with increased influence and prestige?

"What compels us to suspect America is her position in the Shantung question. America has no conceivable interest in this part of the Chinese territory, and has no right whatever to have a say in the matter, and yet Japan has yielded to the American attitude, mainly out of the fear that not to listen to America might bring stronger pressure to bear upon us.

"The Americans talk of the occupation of Yap Island as though it constituted a menace to their safety, Americans are seeking with all their powers for the cancellation of the mandate granted Japan over that island.

"If Yap, under Japanese domination, constitutes a menace to American safety, then Japan has more reasons for insisting on the withdrawal of America from Guam and the Philippines, since the geographical position of these islands makes them a positive menace to Japan. Japan will not vacate Yap so long as her evacuation is not compensated by similar concessions on the part of America.

"Suspect America."

America has no conceivable interest in this part of the Chinese territory, and has no right whatever to have a say in the matter, and yet Japan has yielded to the American attitude, mainly out of the fear that not to listen to America might bring stronger pressure to bear upon us.

"The only alternative open to Japan in a situation brought about by the American President is to face the situation bravely and withdraw from the conference if she is satisfied that the free development of her people in China and Siberia is not compatible with the settlement of Far East and Pacific questions.

"Withdrawal will necessarily mean war with America. This is why I suggest that Japan should be fully prepared for war before going to the conference."

AIRPLANE KIDNAPERS ARE FOUND IN ITALY

(By International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The newspaper Mezzogiorno, of Naples, states that a large and powerful gang, mostly Frenchmen, with ramifications throughout Italy, is alleged to have kidnapped children and young girls, abducting them by airplane.

Several children and young girls have disappeared, and two arrests have been made.

WOULD JAIL MOTHERS

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 25.—Two Columbus mothers are to spend thirty days in jail if their children again steal coal.

This unique degree has been announced by Judge Homer Bostwick, of the Juvenile Court.

Admission that she sent her children into local railway yards for coal was made by Mrs. Ella Smith when her children and those of Mrs. Jennie Miller, of No. 538 Yarmouth street, were arrested before Judge Bostwick for the crime of stealing coal from railroad yards.

Judge Bostwick decreed that if the children again appear in Juvenile Court on similar charges he will sentence the mothers to spend the following thirty days in jail.

NEW FENCE IMPROVES ATHLETIC FIELD

The new steel posts to support the wire fencing that encloses the athletic field of Glendale High have this morning received a coat of green paint which gives them a very nifty appearance.

In connection with the fence building the Cecil Brunner roses that beautified the south boundary fence have all been pruned to the ground. The pruners declare they will come up more beautiful than ever and this time on the inside of the fence instead of the outside. Some of them were ragged and will be improved by new growth, but the pedestrians who enjoyed them hope the severe cutting will not destroy them.

POISONED MELON REACTS

(By International News Service)

CORSICANA, Texas, Aug. 25.—Never poison your watermelons in order to guard against the depredations of thieves. This is the advice of Dr. L. J. Kyser, of Powell, seven miles east of here. Dr. Kyser was confined to his bed for two days after eating melon that he himself had poisoned.

NEW LINER TO OPERATE

(By International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Having been bought by the White Star Line, the Columbus, a new 35,000-ton ex-German liner now lying at Danzig, is to be renamed the Hemeric, and will be employed on the company's Southampton New York service.

OPUM BUSINESS IS BRISK IN HAWAII

(By International News Service)

HONOLULU, Aug. 25.—Honolulu's Chinatown—or certain sections of it—which was plunged into deepest gloom a week ago when opium touched the peak price of $150 per tin, has taken down the crepe and hung out the bunting, for a mere $120 will now purchase a tin of "lop," if presented to the proper person.

This news is reported to have reached the offices of the local Internal Revenue Inspector today through underground channels. It is further reported that the cause of the drop in price of the "dream stuff" may be attributed to the arrival a few days since of the T. K. K. liner Korea Maru from Yokohama, bringing, it is presumed a goodly cargo of the tinned essence of poppy. How the contraband was landed in Honolulu, with both the Narcotic and Prohibition squads of the local Revenue Office watching every Revenue channel in an attempt to interrupt the drug on its way to its consignees, is a mystery.

Earlier in the month the Inspector's squad aided by the revenue cutter Farp located and seized $60,000 worth of smuggled opium.

THE TARIFF IN ACTION

The argument that the price of wheat in the United States was low because the Canadians were shipping wheat into this country captured the fancies of enough people to make the Fordney emergency tariff possible. This tariff was, according to its advocates, framed to prevent Canada from flooding the United States market with cheap farm products.

Figures have been issued recently showing the export and import trade of Canada for the month of June, the first full month during which the emergency tariff was operative. It is true that Canada's exports of farm products to this country have declined some. Frozen meats, butter, potatoes and wheat flour show a slight shrinkage. However, can any farmer honestly say he has been helped by this?

But if Canadian exports to use have fallen off, what about our exports to Canada? In June, 1920, we shipped to Canada plows and cultivators totaling $253,300. In June, 1921, these exports fell to $24,698. Commercial automobiles fell from $502,890 to $97,313, while passenger automobiles dropped from $1,271,481 to $703,191. In June, 1920, the United States sold Canada metal-working machinery amounting to $643,333, and in June, 1921, these sales totaled $69,330; steel sheets show a decline from $605,755 to $163,804.

It is a pertinent question, What do the thousands of men out of work in the steel mills and automobile and farm implement factories think of the emergency tariff? In all justice to the farmer, can it be said that the embargo on Canadian farm products is worth the cost?

The South fell for the Fordney emergency tariff because it got a little protection on long-staple cotton. But what happened to cotton exports to Canada? In June, 1920, this country sold nearly twice as much cotton goods to Canada as in June, 1921. The cotton bought from us by Canada in June, 1920, totaled $4,421,924 and in June, 1921, the total was only $637,748. What, now, can the South say of its cotton protection?

When will Congress awaken to the fact that shutting out foreign products will not bring prosperity to this country? What the United States farmer and manufacturer needs is a greater world market; a place to sell the surplus grain and meat and manufactured products. All the embargoes in the world will not establish stability in the United States.

The Greeks may not be able to beat the Turks, but they are the only people on earth who can polish an apple until it looks like 10 cents' worth.

Most of the road accidents are occasioned by an admixture of gasoline and solid ivory.

If an excuse sounds too darned reasonable, it is usually a lie.

Recovered Coin After Fifty Years

Fifty years ago when the foundations were being laid for the Washington statue in front of Independence Hall, in Philadelphia, John Nash, then a policeman, threw a two-cent piece into the hole being dug for the foundations. Recently when some changes were being made to the statue, Nash recalled the incident and stirred up the dirt and uncovered the coin. It will be hung in Independence Hall. Incidentally, Mr. Nash recalled that two cent had a buying capacity at that time treble that of today.

The Handkerchief's History

The pocket handkerchief was first known as "kerchief"—couvre-chef—a covering for the head; then it became handkerchief, a covering for the head carried in the hand; and at last pocket-handkerchief, a covering for the head held in the hand and kept in the pocket.

Hired to Sing for a King

The most curious contract that ever an operatic star made was probably that of Farinelli, who, about the year 1734, was deriving an income of something like $25,000 per annum. This singer afterwards visited Spain, where the King, Philip V, was suffering from mental depression, from which nothing aroused him until the advent of Farinelli. The Queen was so delighted to see her royal spouse once more interested in anything, and she engaged Farinelli at a salary of $10,000 to remain in Madrid. This he did, singing the same four songs to the King every night for ten years.

The Finger Nail's History

The rapidity of the growth of the nails is indicative of the health. The growth of the nails on the right hand is in most people more rapid than those on the left hand. Another curious point is that the rate of growth of the nail depends directly on the length of the finger! thus the nails on the two middle fingers of men grow more rapidly than those on the first and third fingers respectively, and these in turn are more speedy in the growth than those on the little fingers.

Two Great Earthquake Belts

There are two earthquake belts which encircle the world. One of them runs through the Mediterranean region and Asia Minor to the Himalayas and beyond, crossing the Pacific to Central America and the Caribbean.

The other encircles the Pacific Ocean, running northward along the Andes in South America, following the west coast of North America, continuing on by way of the Aleutian chain to Kamchatka, and passing through the Japanese Islands to the Philippines and New Zealand.

The two belts cross each other in the Andes and in the western Pacific. Within them occur 94 per cent of all the earthquakes recorded on the terrestrial globe.

The Atlantic's Waves Measured

The size of the waves of the Atlantic Ocean has been carefully ascertained as a result of extensive investigations made by the officers of the Hydrographic Office of the United States Navy Department. In height, we are assured, these waves usually average 30 feet, but in rough weather they will attain some 40 to 45 feet. During storms they are frequently from 500 to 600 feet long and endure 10 or 11 seconds. The longest wave measured by the Hydrographic Office officials was half a mile, and it did not spend itself for 23 seconds.

Water Distillation in the Desert

In the big desert of Chile there is a considerable amount of brackish water, but no water that either human beings or stock can drink. Science, however, has come to the aid of this rainless section of the country in the form of an ingenious desert waterworks, consisting of a series of frames containing 20,000 square feet of glass. The panels of glass are arranged in the shape of a V, and under each pane is a shallow pan containing brackish water. The heat of the sun evaporates the water, which condenses upon the sloping glass, and, made pure by this operation, it runs down in little channels at the bottom of the V and is carried away into the main canal. Nearly 1,000 gallons of fresh water is collected daily by this means.

Thirteen

By LORIMER JOHNSTON

Isn't it absurdly idiotically silly, to believe for one single instant, that "13" has any power to shape, or control and action of one's life?

Of course for many years there have been numbers of people who are scared to death to do anything on the thirteenth, and pass that day of the month in fear and trembling, and when the 13th came on Friday! oh! oh! As for occupying a room in a hotel with that number, nay, nay—Hotel keepers have recognized this.

No. 13 In Hotels

Haven't you noticed the big difference in the numbers on the door between 12 and 14? I've seen "00" on one door, which properly should be 13, and played it, as it was the last room left, that is took a "roulette" chance in the "double aught."

As the hotel was not burned that night, and as to the present time I am still alive, I guess that "00" took the "comether off" as the Irish say.

The superstition is funny to say the least, but we all have superstition in some form in our natures, and if we were asked to explain why it exists, we would hardly be able to give a lucid answer.

Significant 13

Now I have been occupying more or less room on this earth for quite a number of years, have a lot of real friends, who really know me, and trust me, and believe I generally tell the truth, and to them I have verified the chief incidents of the facts I am writing of here.

These things really happened, and happened as stated, and I am only writing on a single connection of events now to be described.

In the past, "13" has played a most important part in my life, "but that's another story," believe me or not, here's what happened.

Important affairs in my life made it imperative that I go to South Africa, by way of England and to start as soon as possible and to get through somehow, war or no war. Naturally, the first thing I thought of was the necessity of a passport. Now this was in August 1915. On reference to my note book I find that I filled out my application for passport, went before the proper authorities in New York, swore to my statements, had photograph attached and sent the papers on to the State Department in Washington, with a letter from a big man stating the reasons for a prompt action in issuing the passport, as I was booked to sail from New York September 4th, 1915.

The papers sent to Washington were prepared and mailed August 5th, as August is the eighth month add to this the fifth day and we get 13.

Passport Arrives

The passport was duly sent to me and arrived on August 15th, and the date on it is August 13th, 1915. I sailed from New York on the American liner "St. Paul," September 4th.

September is the ninth month, add the fourth day and again we get 13.

My cabin was on the promenade deck, and will you believe it, I had cabin 13.

I am today verifying all of these statements from my note book. At the time they made no particular impression on me, although I did protest at the steamship office when I booked my passage, against cabin 13, but it was one of the best on the boat, and was the last one to be had, the steamer was full up, and there was no other boat for two weeks, so I took it as I was due in London to meet a man who was coming from Africa to meet me, he was to be in London the 16th of September, and was to leave for America on the 18th of the same month, so I had to get there if possible in time to meet him.

Get Hoodoo Seat

On going to my first luncheon on board I found that the ship's custom was for the chief steward to issue table seats corresponding with cabin numbers, and as I had cabin 13 alone naturally I go seat 13.

This trip was of course long before we entered the war, but we were taking no chances. The flag at the stern of the boat had a strong light thrown on it, and on a dark night I do not think any flag on earth, or on sea, ever looked so beautiful as our Old Glory did then.

On arrival at Liverpool, we went to a dock not generally used by this line—the docks are now known by letters and not by numbers, our dock was "M" can't say much about it you know or exactly where it is located, but count dear friends, and let's see the problem's answer, oh yes, certainly. "M" is the thirteenth.

Fateful Number Again

There was a time once when I held, but that's not a part of the present story, so I'll get back to that, rather a "full" to get back to the present. But here goes.

On arrival at Liverpool, we went to a dock not generally used by this line—the docks are now known by letters and not by numbers, our dock was "M" can't say much about it you know or exactly where it is located, but count dear friends, and let's see the problem's answer, oh yes, certainly. "M" is the thirteenth.

What day did I leave New York?

September 4th, that's right. We didn't go very fast for the last four days of the trip, and very slow last two days, so it took nine days to make the trip from New York to Liverpool. So in the sequence of things we arrived in England on September 13th, 1915.

Jinks Continue

I am not much of a gambler at any time but one day I went in a ten shilling pool, auction pool, and drew number 413.

I suppose it is generally known how this pool is run, but I might explain here for the information of those who do not know how it is done.

A central number is selected by the keeper of the pool, based on the run of the previous day, then twenty numbers are taken each way from this number, also a high number is set and likewise a low one. These numbers are all placed in a box (one is always carried for the purpose by the smoker room steward) making in all 43 different numbers, then there is added a sufficient number of blanks to fill up the full list of subscriptions.

Then the numbers are drawn, those getting blanks are out of it but have the privilege of bidding and purchasing any number put up, and the other numbers are set opposite the names of those drawing a number.

Changes Hotel

Having been told of a new hotel just opened on Piccadilly Circus, went there, it's the Regent's Palace, thirteen letters in that, and was at once assigned to the fifth floor, room 513.

Next day, met my man, and was informed that the next boat for Cape Town, South Africa would not sail until early in October, so I had plenty of time.

In fact, we did not get away until late in October. We got through a lot of business in the two days and my man went off to Liverpool to sail for America.

Now I'll get to the main part of the story.

Prior to my arrival in London, the last raid made by the Huns was on the ninth of September, we got that in the daily wireless published on the steamer.

Germany was just beginning her "frightfulness." Zeppelin raids had been made in a small way, yet on each occasion of their visit death and destruction had marked the night they came, and helpless women and children and non-combatant men went to their last rest, unable to resist or to fight back—WAR?

German Frightfulness

This never can be called war, it was murder, and absolutely premeditated murder, even the justification these barbarians attempt to use in the German papers, saying "Our Air-Crafts made another and successful attack on the fortress of London" is absurd on the face of it.

Did that look good? It did, at least it looked magnificent to me.

I went to the treasurer with great joy, hardly contained, and casually remarked, in fact almost nonchalantly, "Well, I am in a couple of hundred pounds," as if that was an every day occurrence with me, and amounted to very little in my life.

Mr. Treasurer said, "If we go to war you won't get by." Not understanding him I asked why, he replied, "You will not get by the eye test, go look at the number on the board again."

I didn't really wonder why, but I can generally get by, at any rate back to the board for mine and then read 413.

The notice was written with a typewriter, the terminal figure was blurred and what I thought was a 3 was and 8, and so out of my life went eleven hundred dollars that I had already prepared to spend. Oh, Oh, and then some.

The Funny Part

Now here's the funny part. I went in no more pools, but the next day's run was 413 miles, and the day following, what do you think the run was? All right, you win—413 miles.

I have been on many voyages since, and those two times when we made 413 miles were the only times it has ever happened, that is when that exact number was posted as the day's run. Naturally I have always looked at the run. There is a vivid recollection of the time I lost eleven hundred dollars.

Oh, certainly I play poker. Am I a good poker player? Of course I am, no I do not win money exactly, but the hands I have held are wonderful remembrances even if they lost money for me.

Fatal Number Again

There was a time once when I held, but that's not a part of the present story, so I'll get back to that, rather a "full" to get back to the present. But here goes.

On arrival at Liverpool, we went to a dock not generally used by this line—the docks are now known by letters and not by numbers, our dock was "M" can't say much about it you know or exactly where it is located, but count dear friends, and let's see the problem's answer, oh yes, certainly. "M" is the thirteenth.

What day did I leave New York?

September 4th, that's right. We didn't go very fast for the last four days of the trip, and very slow last two days, so it took nine days to make the trip from New York to Liverpool. So in the sequence of things we arrived in England on September 13th, 1915.

During the trip we were pretty brave in the daytime and games on deck and in the smoker room, went as usual, as also the pools were formed, both decimal and auction, on the day run of the boat.

Jinks Continue

I am not much of a gambler at any time but one day I went in a ten shilling pool, auction pool, and drew number 413.

until the 16th, so I decided to spend a couple of days with my family who were living in Hightown, a suburb of Liverpool, and go on to London on the fifteenth.

Hotel Name Checks

I went to the hotel in Hightown, this is called Hightown Hotel, 13 letters in that name, a good hotel by the way and quite large, my room was 49—add that up.

I am afraid this is getting a bit monotonous, so I will skip a lot, but at the police offices in Liverpool, Hightown and Seaforth where the regulations required me to go and have my passport "vized," thirteen turned up a lot of times. Notably in the numbers on the police, the office numbers and on the stamp cancellations on the passport.

So I'll get on to the bigger things.

Round the Sport Circle
with Jack Veiack
International News Sporting Editor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—What is the matter with British athletes and athletics? The British themselves would give a good deal to know.

Since the World War came to an end John Bull has been a consistent loser in many branches of sport and some of the losses he felt most keenly have been swallowed right in his own backyard.

Without a doubt much of England's backwardness in returning to normalcy in sport may be laid at the door of the former German Kaiser and the ruckus he started in 1914. England lost many an athletic star, and her long and heroic struggle from 1914 to 1918 swept all thought of athletics aside.

Yet the English are lovers of sport of all kinds and, compared to the population of the "tight little isle," there are just as big percentages of competitors in various lines of sport as we have here in America. But still the British continue to take the loser's share of the spoils.

'Twas Disappointing Year

The year 1921 has been exceptionally disappointing to our cousins across the pool.

Jack Hutchison's victory in the British open golf championship was severe blow.

The victory of the American amateur golfers in the team match at Hoylake was another disappointment. John Bull found balm, however, in Miss Leitch's victory in the women's golf championship and the victory of Willie Hunter in the amateur at Hoylake.

Bill Tilden's successful defense of his international singles title at Wimbledon and the decisive manner in which the American polo four lifted the international cup did not sweeten Johnny Bull's tea.

The defeat of the British Davis Cup team by Australia at Pittsburg recently and the invasion of the Oxford-Cambridge athletes who lost to Yale and Harvard and tied with Princeton and Cornell sums up British-American clashes in sport to date.

Over there they are still asking: "What is the matter with our athletes?"

We may be wrong, but perhaps our English cousins do not play the game hard enough. The average Englishman, as we have viewed him—we do not mean the Rudds or the Hills—lacks the aggressiveness of our lads. He doesn't play his game religiously and as tirelessly. He comes to a point where he lets well enough alone. Over here our athletes have had a tradition handed down to them. It is this:

You are never so good that you cannot improve your game and you will never be too good to be beaten!

The American athlete has this warning in his mind all the while. He knows it is cold truth and he governs himself accordingly. It might not be amiss for Johnny Bull to ponder on it.

TOWN HONORS AGED WOMAN'S BIRTHDAY

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—When Arlington Heights, Ill., recently declared a public holiday in honor of "Grandma" Kennicott, 100 years of age and its oldest citizen, Mayor P. G. Morse issued a proclamation calling her birthday "the greatest event in Arlington Heights history." The entire community, from the Mayor down to the grocer boy, attended "Grandma's" party.

Five generations of her family were present at the celebration which followed a parade to her house, in which everybody in the community participated.

Mrs. Kennicott's memory has not failed, and she enjoys telling stories that delighted her children and grandchildren to her great-great-granddaughter, Grace Little, aged twelve years.

WRIST WATCHES TO PASS FROM VOGUE

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Wrist watches, popularized by the World War, have joined the Dodo bird. In a few years they will be entirely extinct, Chicago jewelers called before the Cook County Tax Board of Review predicted. Even now they have no sale.

Other facts brought out at the Board of Review hearings were:

Diamonds are about to advance in price, after a drop of 20 per cent in value.

There is a 10 per cent decline in the price for watches and silverware.

Engagement rings show an alarming falling off of at least 75 per cent.

Lavalieres are being discarded for bar pins.

WAR ON PESTS

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—If all the wheat now destroyed annually by pests could be saved and made into flour it would add approximately 29,460,700 barrels to the yearly output of the nation. Statistical "sharps" of the Department of Agriculture make this assertion and they have dived deep into the "dope" in arriving at this conclusion. They point out that the annual production of wheat in this country for the four-year period 1916-1919, inclusive, was 783,849,500 bushels. The annual loss from wheat disease during this period was 147,318,500 bushels.

While it is not possible entirely to eliminate wheat diseases it is possible to reduce the toll much below what it has been in the recent years, the experts say. Various branches of the Bureau of Plant Industry are constantly working on the problems of preventing and controlling diseases of all cereal crops.

Isn't it a funny thing, but do you know that during all of the earlier raids the subways of the "tube," and all the underground railways, were closed at once, and no one was permitted to enter. At the latter raids they were never closed and the police order the people to go down when there is a raid on, this is certainly a great means of protection, as the bomb has not yet been used that will go down into the "underground."

Centenarian Gives Some Health Rules

(By International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—"Don't gat-ble, don't drink. Smoke if you like, but don't overdo it. Eat, sleep regular, work hard, smile, don't worry and exercise."

This is the simple formula for longevity of Louis Horowitz, who celebrated his 104th year. The patriarch, hale and hearty and as spry as many men fifty years his junior, tried to hide his true age, laughingly remarking:

"I stopped counting my years after I reached the century mark, as I don't want to believe I am getting old."

Horowitz has seven children, four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. He is the "life" of the Harlem Home for the Sons of Israel, where he went seven years ago, because he did not wish to be a burden to his children.

Horowitz admitted to having a hobby. A hobby is necessary, he declared, to attaining a mellow age.

"My ambition is to learn to play golf," he declared, "but I'm afraid I'm yet too young."

Pioneer American Bee Man Joins Press Staff

he sold for $25 each. So steady was the growth of Mr. Kretchmer's business of the manufacture of bee-keepers' supplies that when he sold out, in 1917, prior to coming to California, he was employing 83 workmen.

System for Raising Queen Bees

Mr. Kretchmer has a special system of his own for raising queen bees. His method is to select a small hive of bees in which there is no brood—just comb foundation, so that the queen would necessarily lay in the cells of this partly built comb foundation. From these he cut the strips containing the eggs, and, after fastening them with a wooden bar, placed them in a small nucleus colony which was without a queen or other brood, whereupon the bees started to build the queen cells from the eggs furnished them.

When furnished with partly built cells in this manner, the bees will enlarge the cell, feed the larvae the particular kind of food that is required for queens, after which the cells are capped. After the new queens begin to lay, they are put in small mailing cases about the size of a safety-match box and shipped to different parts of this country, and even to far-distant lands. Mr. Kretchmer at a figure which will be fair to both parties concerned. When this is done the city will be the sole distributor of water in the Grand View section.

BIDS TO BE OPENED SEPT. 1 FOR GRAND VIEW PIPE

Bids for the pipe which will be used for the distributing main in the water system in the Grand View district, which was annexed to the city some time ago, will be opened by the city council on September 1. This will include a little more than four miles of pipe. Negotiations for the sale of the $30,000 bonds, the returns from which will go to pay for the installing of this new water system, is now going on.

Superintendent Deitrich of the public service department stated this morning that if one of the bids that are to be opened September 1, is accepted, it will take about 90 days to have the material laid down in Glendale. After the necessary material is on hand the actual work of installing the pipe will consume something like two months.

This new system will cover all of the streets west of Grand View avenue, including the San Fernando road. At the present time this section is partially supplied with water by a pumping plant owned by E. L. Learned. It is the proposition of the city to purchase this system from Mr. Learned at a figure which will be fair to both parties concerned. When this is done the city will be the sole distributor of water in the Grand View section.

NEW ADDITIONS TO RIDGELEY COLONY

The population of Glendale has been increased by the arrival of two more men, Sunday, from Ridgeley, Tenn., Earl Inman and Columbus McCurdy. They are now guests in the home of Mrs. Ella Griffin, 130 West Acacia, who is also from Ridgeley.

The young men expect to make their permanent home here. One has already secured a job and the other has work in prospect.

W. H. Robinson and brother, of the Robinson Transfer & Storage Co. were the pioneers from Ridgeley, and were the means of attracting many others, the colony now including, besides the two latest comers, Mrs. Ella Miller, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Alexander and three children, Mr. and Mrs. John Mathis, Mrs. Ella Griffin and two children, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Alexander and daughter, Mrs. Emma Jones, Miss Nora Gray, Henry Hatcher, Mrs. M. P. Hatcher and two children, W. H. Robinson and Dr. Dick Griffin, now in Los Angeles taking a post graduate course.

Retains Interest in Bees
But Mr. Kretchmer's strenuous bee-keeping days are over. He has come to Glendale to enjoy the fruits of the labor with the bees. While living here, however, he will not give him self over to idleness. He will still "play" with bees, and, what is even more important to the citizens of Glendale, and the San Fernando Valley as a whole, he will be only too glad to answer, through the columns of The Glendale Daily Press, any questions that may be put to him on the bee-raising question. The readers of The Press who are bee-men are invited to tell their troubles to Mr. Kretchmer. There are few problems which confront the bee-keeper that he does not understand. Address all letters to The Press.

INDIANA VISITORS RETURN HOME

J. M. Watkins and daughter, Miss May Watkins, who have been the summer guests of Mr. Watkins' sisters, the Misses Mary and Elizabeth Watkins of 112 South Everett street, left today for their home in Anderson, Indiana.

Mr. Watkins and daughter enjoyed their visit to Southern California very much and especially the long auto drives and the beaches.

Miss Watkins, who is a teacher in the city schools of Anderson, will resume her work there in a short time. Her father says he is a great admirer of Glendale, and is anxious to get back "home" to see old scenes and old friends. Mr. Watkins is a charter member of the Masonic Lodge in that city and has taken all the degrees there.

GRIFFINS ENTERTAIN BRIDE AND GROOM

Mr. and Mrs. Crittenden Woolsey, who are on their wedding trip, were guests Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Griffin at their home on West Acacia avenue. They left this morning for San Diego expecting to return to Glendale Sunday. Mrs. Woolsey is a niece of Mrs. Griffin and five years ago she visited Glendale and made quite a circle of friends as Miss Melba Weiler. Her marriage took place at Santa Cruz last Saturday and she and Mr. Woolsey expect to locate permanently in Bakersfield where he is interested in oil.

NEW RESIDENTS ARE HERE FROM SCOTLAND

Mrs. William Cullingsworth is a very happy woman. Within the past week her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery, and several brothers and sisters have arrived from Scotland with all their household effects with the intention of making a permanent home in Glendale. They are now the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cullingsworth at their home, 1023 Boynton street.

ADVERTISING PAYS! YES!

"Did I get a good response? I should say yes," declared Joe Holzman of the Glendale Dry Goods Company who placed a "Help Wanted" ad in the Glendale Daily Press, August 23. "We had to fairly chase them away. About 25 women and fifty boys responded, and a very fine class they were, experienced, refined, intelligent. As a result we secured just the kind of help we most desired. A good many came from outlying districts, showing that the Glendale Daily Press has a wide circulation and that its readers study the advertising pages as well as the news columns. We are very much pleased with the returns and have subscribed for the paper."

WORK STARTED ON WILSON AVENUE

The public service department of Glendale expects to start work this morning on the extension of the Wilson avenue transportation line, which, when completed, will extend from Central avenue eastward to the substation. The poles necessary for this work are already on the ground, and all the material to be used in the construction of the line has arrived in Glendale.

This line, when finished, will make available an electric supply from two sources, one from the McNeil substation, just north of Burbank, and the other from the Eagle Rock substation, both of these sub-stations being part of the system of the Edison Electric Company.

The building of this high-power transportation line has been held up for some time on account of the non-arrival of the material, but now that everything is in readiness for the execution of the work, the actual construction of the line will be rushed as quickly as it is possible for the public service department to do the work. The public service department is only running one work crew at the present time and other work will necessarily interfere with the construction of this line from time to time. However, it is expected that the work will be completed within three weeks.

HOME FROM RUSSIAN RIVER COUNTRYSIDE

Attorney and Mrs. Hartley Shaw returned last night from a three weeks' vacation, most of which was spent in San Francisco as the guest of Mr. Shaw's father, Justice Lucien Shaw.

It was an auto trip, and from San Francisco they motored northeast to the Russian River country, which greatly delighted them.

"It is enough of a stream for boating and more like a river than anything I have seen in California for a long time," Mr. Shaw declared.

"We visited the petrified forest 40 miles from Calistoga and much enjoyed a stop at Monte Rio, at the mouth of the Russian river, and the splendid grove of native redwoods that have never been out of the holdings of the Bohemian Club of San Francisco, which controls over 1000 acres. There is where the members go in the summer for their high jinks (or possibly their low jinks), and their cottages among the trees are wonderfully attractive.

"We came home by way of Santa Cruz and the Big Basin, taking in Redwood Park, Monterey and Carmel-by-the-Sea.

"We had a very nice tour and enjoyed every minute of it, but it is good to get home again. We saw no place that looked more beautiful to us than Glendale, nor where we would rather live."

PIANO RECITAL GIVEN BY AUDREY HAYNES

An event of great interest to young musicians of this city and to relatives of the artists, will be a piano forte recital by Audrey Elizabeth Haynes, which takes place to-night at the studio of her teacher, Mrs. Winifred Wagner Bennett, 1114 South Central avenue.

Audrey Haynes is but 13 years of age, but is a talented young girl and a pupil of great promise. She was born in Glendale and is a grandchild of James Rich, one of the pioneers of this district.

Western Open Golf Meet Champs Start

By WILLIAM J. HUSKE

International News Service Staff

Correspondent

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 25.—"Jock"

Hutchison, of Glen View, Chicago, holder of the British open and Wester open golf championships; Jim

Barnes, of Pelham Manor, New York;

Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, the youthful amateur, who at times has shown such uncanny skill with the clubs, are among those who started yesterday in the Western open tournament at the Oakwood Club's course here. The tournament lasts three days.

In addition to these the entries, which number more than 150, include the stars of American golfdom, and, unless all signs fail, some of the best golf ever seen will be played in the three-day meet, which will determine the holder of the Western open championship. Bob McDonald of Chicago, Bertram Way, Mayfield Club, Cleveland; Joseph Kirkwood, Australian open champion.

The Oakwood Club itself presents two entries—David Ogilvie, who has been the club professional since 1915, coming here from the Morris County, New Jersey, Golf Club, and Andrew Gray, his nephew, who shows promise of becoming one of the stars of the game. Ogilvie hails originally from St. Andrews, Scotland.

The course is in fine shape for the opening play. Entrants are exhibiting lively interest in the prizes offered by the local club to those beating par—71—on the links. The heat has not yet been accomplished, despite the skill of professionals and amateurs who have teed off here.

Whether the low score made in the Western open event by Arthur Smith in 1905 at Cincinnati, when he shot 278, will be beaten also provides lively debate, but the consensus is that it will not. Jim Barnes, who won at Mayfield, the sister Cleveland course, in 1919, made a score of 283. The highest winning score recorded since this event was carded, was made by Alec Smith at Milwaukee in 1903, when he took 318 strokes to win the championship.

LEWIS GUN'S WORK SHOWN IN SUIT

(By International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 25.—How the Lewis machine-gun, which was one of the most effective man-killers used by the Allies in the great war, was "turned down" by nearly every great Power before the war was brought out in court proceedings here.

The company that supplied the machine-guns to the British army is suing to recover $15,000,000 from the British Government. It was testified that Colonel Lewis, the American who invented the gun, first offered it to the American Government but the officer was rejected. Subsequently Germany, Austria, Russia, France and Italy, through their military experts decided that Colonel Lewis was all wrong.

The British Government finally bought three Lewis guns for a test. On August 1, 1914, just before the outbreak of the war, the British War Office "went in for a bust," as one witness declared, and purchased five. From that time until the end of the war thousands were put into action.

A Smoke Fest in the Camel Herd

It is said that the camel, if given the least encouragement, will quickly acquire a smoking habit, and that the camel driver who has a few cast-off cigar butts in his clothes for distribution among the thirstless ones can do wonders with the animals. They carry a bit of wood rudely shaped into a cigarholder and adapted to the camel's mouth, and an animal which is well-nigh exhausted can be relied upon to get up and travel many a mile after a smoke.

GERMAN PERIL IN THE ALIEN FILMS

As a motion picture producer, Lorimer Johnson, who has recently moved from Glendale to Los Angeles, is very much interested in the status of the German films which are seeking a market in this country.

Mr. Johnson says that of the 110 sold to agencies in this country, six have been released, and exhibitors who have purchased them are very anxious to release all they have contracted for.

"It is merely a question of money and hard business policy," said he. "If these film agencies can buy from Germany for $30,000 pictures that would cost $300,000 if produced here, they are naturally going to try to put it over."

"Germany is producing largely. Every factory and every manufacturing plant is busy. The German mark has depreciated until it is worth a fraction of a cent as against its pre-war value of 25 cents. Yet it will buy in Germany approximately as much as before the war.

"A citizen of the United States could go to Germany and live on the difference of exchange between our money and that of Germany."

Mr. Johnson was the pioneer producer and opened the first motion picture studio in South Africa. He loves the country and expects to return to it. Johannesburg, he says, has a climate as mild as that of Los Angeles and at an elevation of 6000 feet.

DAUGHTER BORN

At the Glendale Sanitarium hospital Sunday afternoon, Mrs. F. F. Parker, of Eagle Rock, gave birth to a baby daughter. Mother and daughter are doing nicely.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL SUMMER SESSION CLOSES SEPT. 2

The Los Angeles Training Center, conducted by the Federal Board for Vocational Education for disabled ex-service men, at the Lincoln High School, will close a very successful summer session on September 2, and will resume, after a week's intermission, September 12, at 409 South Hill street, in the same quarters formerly occupied by the Knights of Columbus.

Arrangements are on foot to make this government school more efficient and more extensive than ever. The summer session, which was an experiment, has justified the authorities in making permanent plans for conducting one school in the city of Los Angeles under the immediate direction of government officials.

G. G. Morgan, who had charge of the summer school, will continue as educational director of the school on Hill street. Mr. Morgan says: "The school will continue the same policy and with the same personnel with the exception that the shop work will be done in cooperation with the high schools of the city, mostly at Lincoln High School, Manual Arts and Polytechnic High School. In addition to the commercial and academic courses, instruction will be given in auto body building, including the wood-work and metal; machine shop work, auto electrics, industrial shop electricity, auto mechanics, battery building and repair, pattern making, forge and foundry, cabinet and furniture making, sign painting and salesmanship.

"It is planned that some of the subjects will be provided by means of tutorial instruction."

The school will be open from 8 to 4 and any disabled ex-service men desiring evening work will be taken care of at the Polytechnic evening school, where plans are to furnish instruction between 6 and 9 p. m. Those desiring supplemental training entitled to Section Three Training only, will do well to take advantage of this school.

Mrs. Mary Rich of West Cypress avenue, who left Glendale some time ago to visit her birthplace, Knoxville, Tenn., writes that she is having a delightful visit with relatives and old friends and will be away a month longer.

VETERANS TO HELP INVALID COMRADES UNDER NEW ACT

The Sweet bill became a law on August 8, when President Harding affixed his signature, ending a heroic struggle for two and one-half years for the decentralization of the War Risk Bureau.

The Watson bill, which provided for this means of speedy relief for our disabled veterans, was passed by congress after a two-year struggle, was vetoed by President Wilson.

The Sweet bill, just passed by the present congress, embodies the provisions of the Watson bill together with other desirable features. Under the new law, the War Risk Bureau is decentralized into 14 regional offices, with 160 sub-offices. The decentralized War Risk Bureau, the U. S. Public Health Service and the Federal Training Board, in so far as they have to do with ex-service men and women, are all consolidated under the head of a newly-created Veterans' Bureau.

President Harding has nominated Col. Charles H. Forbes, present director of the War Risk Bureau and U. S. Public Health Service, for director of the Veterans' Bureau.

The reorganization will take effect immediately.

Under this plan, the agencies for veteran relief will be removed from the jurisdiction of the Treasury Department and the director will be directly responsible to the President, thereby removing these relief agencies entirely from political patronage.

Another feature provides that in cases of mental derangement and tuberculosis, the burden of proof shall rest upon the government for two years from date of discharge of the applicant.

In other words, if an ex-service man or woman develops either malady within two years after date of discharge, it is conceded that such condition is due to military service and compensation will be immediately awarded. Thousands of pitiable cases will thus be automatically provided for.

In the meantime, before such decentralization takes place, Director Forbes is sending forth clean-up squads to reach as many disabled veterans as possible under existing conditions.

BREAD NOW 2 CENTS IN INDIANAPOLIS

Glendale residents consider 10 cents for a 24-oz. loaf of bread, the prevailing price now, a very fair rate but Indianapolis, Indiana, residents are faring much better than that just now. Owing to a bread war between home and outside bakeries, a price of 2 cents a loaf has prevailed for several days in the Hoosier capital.

WHAT YOUR NEIGHBORS ARE DOING

Mrs. Samuel Dick of 309 North Louise street and Mrs. J. B. Sherwood of 357 West Broadway are attending a meeting of the Long Beach organization of War Mothers.

Mrs. R. T. Burr, 1123 Campbell street who has been quite ill, is reported as slowly improving.

Mrs. Ralph Meeker, who returned from San Bernardino the early part of the week, in confined to her bed by illness.

Mrs. Richard Todd of 400 North Maryland avenue, who visited the beach Tuesday and took a rod and line with her, returned that evening with a fine big fish to show as evidence of her skill as an angler.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Buchanan, 242 North Orange street, have gone away on a week's motor trip.

Isaac Pearson, 644 East Harvard street, hale and hearty at 82, is a devoted chess player and is always ready for a game. When a boy of 16, in Fayette, Mo., he quit school temporarily, he thought, to assist in his father's dry goods store. For 50 years he kept at it in the same location, the business eventually passing to his ownership. He and his wife are comparatively recent residents of Glendale and they have two sons residing here, James W. Pearson and Guy Pearson.

Children living on Riverdale drive who have been coming together two or three times a week at their homes for an evening of games, were entertained Tuesday night by Tamson Johnson at the home of her mother, Mrs. Robert Yost, on Orange and Doran streets.

H. J. Horn, who recently built two houses at 107 and 107½ East Chestnut, is completing the investment by building a double garage.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Noble, former residents of Glendale, motored up from their home in Pueblo yesterday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Heacock, 709 East Windsor road.

Miss Hope Ireland, daughter of Mrs. Henrietta Ireland of 637 North Maryland avenue, will spend the coming week-end at Hermosa Beach as the guest of Miss Inez Harrison.

Misses Louise Stanford and Ruth Walton, 337 West Milford street, will be guests this afternoon of the Misses Velma and Betty Osler of Los Angeles.

Dr. William J. Johnson, a physician at the Glendale Sanitarium, who went to Long Beach several days ago with the intention of enjoying a vacation of two weeks, has been called home on account of the illness of Dr. Westphal, medical supervisor of the sanitarium.

Miss Virginia Fry, 707 East Colorado street, has as her house guest her former classmate in Knox College, Miss Ruth Wiley of Long Beach.

Mrs. D. L. Sturges of 310 North Cedar street, accompanied by his daughters, Misses Hazeldele and Marguerite, their friend, Miss Larsen, and Mrs. G. J. Oliver and children, who have been visiting at the Sturges home, went to Little Bear Lake for a few days. The trip has been shortened due to unexpected illness and resultant operation, recently undergone by Harold Sturges at Loma Linda, but who is now recovering nicely. Mrs. Oliver and children will return in the near future to their home in Yuma, Ariz., where Mrs. Oliver is an instructor in the city schools.

C. E. Kimlin, business manager of the Glendale Sanitarium, who has been enjoying a vacation trip of a week at Long Beach, has returned to Glendale and resumed his duties at that institution.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hickman of West Park avenue, recently returned home from a very pleasant trip to Catalina Island.

Week-end guests at the home of Mrs. A. H. Imler, of West Park avenue, were her son, Eugene, of Bakersfield, who came down to see his wife and baby daughter who are guests of his mother, and Miss Helen Johnson, who conducts the "Betty Goes Shopping" department in the Los Angeles Examiner, and sister, Miss Lela, who has enrolled in the University of California, southern branch. The Misses Johnson were formerly of Rice, Wash.

Will Richardson, son of Mrs. Ella Richardson of North Brand boulevard, left yesterday with a party of Masons from Hollywood and Lankershim, on a hunting and fishing trip in the country above Bishop. They went by auto and truck and will pack in on horseback the last lap of their journey.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mercer, 319 North Jackson street, have as their guest this week S. W. Kiser, of Berkeley, Calif., who is connected with the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco. Mr. Kiser and Mr. Mercer were classmates at Stanford University when the two were students at that institution and the visit, though short, is one of great interest for both gentlemen.

Mrs. Olive G. Stearns, mother of Mrs. Ed Turner, 118 East Park avenue, is now at Pictou, Colorado, visiting a sister-in-law, Mrs. H. J. Elliott, whom she had not seen for 20 years. She will return via San Francisco and the coast route, stopping en route to see other friends, and expects to be away until the last of October.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Tropical Presbyterian Church are having an all-day picnic today at Griffith Park.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union of Southern California will hold a picnic next Saturday in Lincoln Park, in honor of the representatives of the national convention, 60 of whom are expected to be present. All White Ribboners and their friends are invited to bring their lunch and join in the picnic, which will convene at 10:30 a. m. An informal program will be given in the afternoon.

Mrs. A. Weger of 332 Ethel street is entertaining for a week her sister, Mrs. Nellie Shiloh, and three children of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Adelaide Sides, cousin of Mrs. A. H. Imler and Miss Cora Hickman, of West Park avenue, and who has been their guest for several months, returned to her home in Limon, Colo., the first of the week.

Miss Ada Van Hazelen of Oakland, Calif., who is connected with the welfare work of the Salvation Army in that city, is spending her two weeks off duty with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Van Hazelen, of West Park avenue.

Mrs. Linn Powers of Hollywood and baby daughter, who recently arrived at the Glendale Sanitarium, have returned to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Flakes and son, Lawrence, of St. Louis, Mo., who have been guests at the M. Gannon home, 318 West Colorado, have been spending some time at San Diego and various points of interest near there. They will return to Glendale the last of the week.

Will Richardson, son of Mrs. Ella Richardson of North Brand boulevard, left yesterday with a party of Masons from Hollywood and Lankershim, on a hunting and fishing trip in the country above Bishop. They went by auto and truck and will pack in on horseback the last lap of their journey.

NATIONAL GUARD'S RIFLE PRACTICE

Fifth Separate Company Will Leave Saturday for Eagle Rock Range

"Glendale's Own" National Guard company will drill tonight, as usual, on the high school grounds, under the command of Capt. Thos. D. Watson.

The Guards are getting a great deal of pleasure out of the pool tables and other equipment at their club headquarters on North Brand, which are open daily now from 4 to 10 p. m.

Capt. Watson is in receipt of the following order relative to practice on the Eagle Rock rifle range:

Headquarters, Los Angeles, Cal.

August 8, 1921.

General Orders No. 2.

1. The 4th Separate Battalion Infantry, California National Guard, will encamp at the Eagle Rock rifle range, Glendale, Calif., Saturday and Sunday, August 27 and 28, 1921, for target practice.

2. Company commanders of companies "K," "I," "M," and 5th Separate Company, will leave their armories as early as possible Saturday afternoon and take sufficient provisions to mess their companies for one meal Saturday evening and two meals Sunday. Provisions will be purchased from state funds and accounts rendered on account current. Cooks and kitchen police will be sent to rifle range together with provisions and stoves, etc., in time to have mess ready Saturday evening not later than 6:30 p. m.

3. Full packs containing bed sacks will be brought with organization. Straw sufficient to fill bed sacks should be purchased by each company commander; ammunition, field glasses for officers, sighting and aiming devices, 22-caliber rifles and ammunition; targets for 22-caliber range should be taken to range. No loose ammunition will be carried by officers or men, either in belt or otherwise. Ammunition will be issued only on the firing line.

4. Each company will pitch shelter tents at a point which will be later designated. Company officers may pitch wall tents for themselves and each company may use one large tent for supply tent. Kitchen fly should be used for the kitchen.

5. Sufficient ramrods and cleaning material will be brought to properly clean rifles.

W. B. HEINECKE,
Maj. Inf., C. N. G.

Mrs. Gertrude Ballard, a former resident of Glendale, whose home is now in Hermosa Beach, has just returned from an Eastern trip and is the guest of Mrs. L. J. Wooley, 1615 South San Fernando road.

MISS FRANCIS RETURNS FROM CAMPING TRIP

Miss Elaine Francis, daughter of Mrs. L. J. Wooley, 1215 South San Fernando road, is very optimistic over the pleasures of a camping trip to the Antelope Valley, from which she has recently returned. Leaving here in the early morning a week ago, the party motored up to the ranch of Mrs. Horton, near El Mirage, situated at an elevation of 2400 feet, a lovely place where big apple orchards are hanging full of fruit, just beginning to ripen. There is also an apricot orchard. From this ranch they motored 12 miles farther into the desert, where they camped for the balance of the time.

"SCRAP IRON" AT PALACE GRAND

"Scrap Iron," in which Charles Ray is starred, will head the bill at the Palace Grand Theatre tonight. Another picture which promises to crowd the leading picture hard for supremacy, is "Miracles of the Jungle," which is a 3-reel picture. This latter attraction comes direct from Broadway, New York, where it had a run of five solid weeks at the Symphony Theatre.

In addition to this there will be a spectacular animal serial picture which, it is claimed, is a hair-raiser.

Daily Press Classified Ads will solve most problems at small cost.

What's the Matter With This Man?

That's easy—he's just been reminded that on and after September 16 he can go after deer. And where is there a real red-blooded man who does not enjoy sport of this kind?

Another reminder to all of the huntsmen is: Get a Good Gun, plenty of Ammunition and a number of necessary requisites packed in the car before making off to the happy hunting grounds. You get all these at the Reliable Sporting Store of

One Born Every Fourth Minute

A LADY with a family of three children didn't want any more because she had heard that every fourth child born in the world was a Chinaman.

As ludicrous, perhaps, as an old misconception some skeptical folks used to have about advertising.

There was a time when some advertisements had to be taken with a grain of salt. A few misguided advertisers thought they could sell their goods better by misrepresenting them. Those advertisers have long since gone out of business or mended their ways. Hard experience taught that untruthful advertising didn't pay.

Other advertisers proved that the only way to advertise successfully, make regular customers, and build up good will was to TELL THE ABSOLUTE TRUTH about their goods in their advertisements. You can depend on the merchant or manufacturer who advertises. The concern that tells you frankly what it is doing is a good concern with which to do business. The store that advertises is a progressive store that has something really worth while to say to you. And companies that advertise their products or their service have confidence in them. You can safely share their confidence.
